DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tarr et al (5,935,004).

Regarding claims 1-9 and 13-15, Tarr teaches an entertainment system that comprises a plurality of entertainment terminal devices, each one of the terminal devices selecting, from common entertainment data delivered to the plurality of entertainment terminal devices at the same time through a broadband broadcast communication line, data necessary for the one of the entertainment terminal devices to execute a predetermined entertainment process on the basis of the selected data and operation input data obtained from an operation terminal, and then sending out terminal data generated as a result of executing the predetermined entertainment process to a low-speed communication line; an entertainment data generation apparatus that receives the terminal data from the plurality of entertainment terminal devices through the low-speed communication line, and then generates entertainment data including data necessary for each one of the entertainment terminal devices to execute the predetermined entertainment process on the basis of the terminal data received from the plurality of entertainment terminal devices; and a data delivery machine for delivering the entertainment data to the plurality of entertainment terminal devices at the same time through the broadband broadcast communication line (abstract; col. 5, lines 6-25; Fig. 1; Fig. 2; col. 3, lines 19-21).

Regarding claims 10-11, Tarr teaches all the limitations of the claims as discussed above. Tarr further teaches the data delivery machine including a scrambling unit {encryption device} and receivers for descrambling {decrypting} the scrambled entertainment data (col. 4, lines 22-28).

Regarding claim 12, Tarr teaches all the limitations of the claim as discussed above. Tarr further teaches the data delivery machine demanding payment from the users (col. 5, lines 20-22; col. 8, lines 22-45).

Pertinent Prior Art

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Tarr et al (6,238,290) and Xidos et al teach software delivery and distributed gaming systems.
